GRECIAN REVOLUTION IS SUCCESSFUL

MILITARY RULE IN FORCE NEW GOVERNMENT WELCOMED

Bloodless d'Etat Led By Former Generalissimo of Army—Meets Little Resistance—Republicans Anxious to Set Up More Democratic Government.

Greek government, under the premiership of Micalakopoulos has been deposed and a new government under military control is installed at Athens. The revolutionary movement started at dawn simultaneously in Athens and Saloniki, when anti-government forces, after a brief and harmless fusillade, seized the telegraph offices and cut communication. The military movement had been foreseen for several days, but up to the last minute the government had declared itself master of the situation and was absolutely convinced of the loyalty of the troops.

General Pangalos issued an ultimatum to the government, demanding its resignation and holding the ministry responsible for any bloodshed.

At the same time an ultimatum was issued by Admiral Hadjikirakos, former minister of marine, who was aboard the warship, Averof, and by the commander of the troops at Saloniki.

The whole of the Athens Garrison did not at first declare in favor of the revolution, and Premier Micalakopoulos and his cabinet remained in session in the parliament building guarded by loyal troops.

In the afternoon General Pangalos and his staff took up quarters at the war ministry, where he assumed the attitude of leader of the revolution. The meantime the government resigned, and the provisional president of the republic, Admiral Coundouriotis, sent out an urgent summons to the parliamentary leaders.

There were possibilities of a really serious situation had a collision between the troops of the two parties occurred, the revolution from a military standpoint was a mild affair, and, except for a few blank cartridges fired, nothing that seemed like war happened. Revolutionary troops are protecting public buildings, and General Pangalos received an offer from Saloniki that troops would be sent to the capital if he so desired. This was not necessary.

The populace seems strangely unmoved by the event, and is evidently becoming accustomed to such coups, which have been increasingly frequent in recent years.

Pangalos issued a manifesto declaring that in acting as he did he was merely carrying out the wishes of the people, who demanded the redemption and purification of the country.

The care with which the revolution was engineered is evidenced by the elaborate preparations made in the principal garrisons throughout the country, where agents of the revolution seem to have found fertile soil to work upon. The adherence of the entire fleet has put the seal of success upon Greece's latest coup d'etat.

The discontent of the officers to which the movement was chiefly due was caused by the feeling that the Micalakopoulos cabinet had not paid sufficient attention to the reorganization of the military forces and had neglected to develop the national riches of the country, while its foreign policy had achieved only failure notably with regard to Serbia and Turkey. The officers further complained that too great concessions had been afforded foreign capital, making Greece financially tributary to foreigners.

All the leaders of the military movement are strong republicans and are anxious to set up a more democratic government.

THE CROW LAW

This law goes into effect on July 20. It provides a bounty of twenty-five cents for each crow killed in the state by an inhabitant thereof. The "head" is taken to the township clerk, who destroys it and issues to the applicant a certificate to the county auditor for the fee.

County commissioners are required to appropriate not to exceed $100 for each township for the purpose of paying for crows killed, but no limit is placed as to how this money is to be expended as to townships. No payments are made after the funds are exhausted.

Long Submarine Cable

A submarine cable in one continuous length of 2,700 feet has been recently laid across the Hudson river at Garrison, just below West Point, according to the Electrical World. The makeup of the cable and the method of laying it presented some features not encountered in every-day practice. The cable is to carry current from the east side of the river to the west side for local distribution in the immediate vicinity of Garrison. Power is to be transmitted at first at 2,300 volts with ungrounded star-connected transformers, and this will later be changed to 4,000 volts with the neutral grounded.

Old Landmark Injured

Scrabo tower, an ancient landmark at Newtownards, County Down, Ireland, was recently struck by lightning during a severe storm. The bolt dug an extensive hole beside the tower walls. So violent was the crash that windows were smashed to fragments. Scrabo tower was erected in the year 1857 in memory of Charles William Vane, third marquis of Londonderry, by his tenantry and friends. The monument stands on an eminence of 540 feet and is itself 135 feet high—about the same height as the Albert memorial in Belfast. The prominent position which it occupies enables it to be seen from the heights around Belfast, and it can be viewed from the hills of Antrim and from the shores and islands of Strangford to far away Portaferry.

A System of Farming That Brings Health and Prosperity

Every farm, regardless of the method of farming practiced or of the crops raised, should have at least a few good milk cows to provide

- (1) Enough milk, cream and butter for home use;
- (2) Enough skim-milk to raise some calves, pigs and chickens;
- (3) Enough cream or butter to sell to pay, in part or entirely, current living expenses.

This plan has been a "life-saver" for thousands of farmers, especially during the hard times of the past two years. It insures a living, at least, and often other income besides.

Such a plan pays best with a De Laval Cream Separator. It soon pays for itself—and skims cleaner, lasts longer and is easier to operate and clean than any other.

BOULAY TO RE-TIRE FROM POLITICS, HE DECLARES

Scorns Gubernatorial Boom—Finds Job 'Expensive'—Has Had Enough He Thinks.

"When I leave the office of state highway director, I am quitting politics for life. I have had enough and my experience as a member of the governor's official family has been entirely satisfactory but really rather expensive, and I have had to dig into the chest to make ends meet."

Such was the statement of L. A. Boulay, Tuesday, when the rumors that he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor next year against Gov. Vic Donahey were repeated to him.

"I am not unmindful of the very many pleasant things said about me, and have heard personally and by mail from a number who have suggested that I enter the field as a candidate for governor next year. It is to laugh. When I finish my work here in August I am through with politics forever. No more political offices for me. I have had a delightful experience, proud of things accomplished during my administration, but when I leave the office in August I leave behind me all political aspirations and desires."

DEAR OLD DAD.

They were grouped about the front door waiting for the pallbearers to carry out the casket. There were young men, middle-aged men and old men in that group. There were thin men and fat men, short men and tall men; but in one thing they were all alike. Each wore a white apron under his coat, a sprig of green in his buttonhole and each had his hands encased in white gloves. You have already guessed that it was a lodge funeral. One of the members had laid down the working tools of life and the others had assembled to carry the body to the brow of a hill, where someone had been and dug a grave. Every time we attend the funeral of a man who has been a husband and a father, we think of what that home has lost. We associate the success of a well-managed home so much with mother that we are prone to lose sight of dad. But when we stand around the yard waiting for them to bring dad thru the door-way we begin to think of him as the man who furnished the shingles over that home—as the man who held the butcher and grocer off with his weekly pay envelope—the man who mowed the grass and hauled out the ashes each spring. Dad is the man who buys the chicken, who carves the chicken, and for all expense and trouble he draws the neck and wing. Dad is the chap who wears his last summer's straw hat that mother and the girls may have new bonnets. True it is mother who darns the socks, but who pays for the darn socks? It was dad who went to lodge and came home smelling like a smokehouse and rolled and tossed because he had eaten four ham sandwiches and drank two cups of coffee after eleven o'clock. Poor old dad—he was an awful fool about the work at the lodge, but with all his faults there was something about him and his brother Masons that makes us sigh as they drop their sprigs of acacia into the new made grave. Dad was as steady as a steam roller, as constant as the drip from a loose faucet. When he sat silently rubbing his chin and gazing into the fire he was probably thinking of the price of coal. Sometimes mother had to chide him for wearing a shirt too long, or neglecting to hang his hat in its proper place. Sometimes daughter wished he wouldn't come into the living room without collar. Sometimes the boys thought he was hard on them and tight with them. But now that he is gone, they will miss him sorely and understand why he went without a new overcoat to pay that last premium on his life insurance. And when you came back from the place where you laid him, and all the brothers of the lodge have gone back to their own homes, and the undertaker has gathered up the folding chairs and removed the crepe from the door, you are going to miss that sober presence that stood between you and so many outside annoyances. Never go back on dad.—Exchange.

TRAINING CAMPS
PROVE POPULAR

Already 25 Per Cent of Quota
for 1925 Is Filled.

New York.—With the 1925 citizens' military training camps still two months away, more than 25 per cent of the estimated quota attendance of 50,000 young men between the ages of 17 and 31 already has been enrolled, according to announcement by the War department. This is double the enrollment at this time last year, and this summer's quota will be 16,000 more than that of 1924.

Forty-two camps stretching across the continent from Fort McKinley, Maine, to the Presidio of San Francisco, will be opened this summer for the basic course, and the three advanced courses in which citizenship and physical training will be intermingled in the schedules with drill and instruction in the infantry, cavalry, field and coast artillery, engineers and signal corps branches of the military. Part of the camps run during the month of July and others during August, while Plattsburg, N. Y., will have two camps in succession.

The C. M. T. C. candidate is under no obligations except to spend thirty days of his time at one of the camps located near his home; the government meets the expense of carriage to and from the camp, clothing, equipment, meals, bedding, lodging and entertainment. The President's son or the millionaire's heir who sleeps by the side of the farmer's boy, marches beside him in the ranks and eats next him at the mess hall in this annual democratic leveler, pays the same amount for his thirty days' vacation and training, exactly nothing.

The Sixth army corps area so far leads among the nine areas in which the nation is divided by the war department for purposes of military administration. Fifty per cent of this section's quota of 5,600 already has been filled.

It includes the states of Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. Next is the Fifth corps area, including Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia, with 38.4 per cent of a quota of 6,000. Third is the Fourth corps area, including the southeastern states, with 36.6 per cent of a quota of 5,700.

NEW MACHINE
ANNOUNCED
BY CHRYSLER

Companion Car the Famous
Six-Rapid Motor Car
Development.

Chrysler today announces a new four-cylinder line, in response to a public demand for another car bearing this name which has become recognized as one of the most distinguished in the motor car industry.

The new Chrysler Four, offered in touring car, club coupe, coach and four-door body sedan styles, priced from $895 to $1095, f. o. b., Detroit, is built for the benefit of the thousands who desire in a four-cylinder car the same comparative superiorities embodied in the Chrysler Six.

This new car is the product of the executives who, in the Chrysler Six revolutionized motor car design and construction. Motor car authorities who have seen the new model considered it to be equally as notable an achievement in its field as its famed companion. It is built to the same close manufacturing limits and of the same high quality of materials.

"The new Chrysler Four is the outgrowth of research, design and test which first resulted in the conception of the Chrysler Six," is the comment of Walter P. Chrysler, head of this organization who has become one of the dominant personalities in the automotive field, on his newest achievement. "Adaptation of the results achieved in the Six to our four-cylinder model has been going on since the appearance of the Six."

Sets Record For Power Development According to the S. A. E. formula, the horsepower of the new Four is 21.03. It actually delivers 38.5. Uniform fuel distribution to all cylinders complete combustion, perfect valve action, highly efficient operating temperature, ample capacity of cooling system and generous water jacketing of cylinder walls and valve ports are factors that make this noticeable general efficiency possible.

"You can drive this car all day under heavy load at top speed and the engine will not overheat or lose power," Mr. Chrysler continues.

Engine lubrication is by positive, full-forced feed, sending a continuous flow of oil under pressure to all main bearings and, thru drilled passages in the crankshaft, to all connecting rod bearings. A cushion of oil at these points is called well worth the extra cost by engineers, rather than having the metal-to-metal contact and rapid wear common to splash oiling.

Remarkably free from Vibration.

The entire car is called remarkably free from vibration. Elimination of it is due to balancing all rotating and reciprocating parts; short, heavy and rigid crankshaft in conjunction with light pistons and connecting rods; dynamic balance of all parts that revolve—such as crankshaft, clutch hub and flywheel; and matching of connecting rod and piston assemblies to the fraction of an ounce.

"But the engineers have not stopped there in disposing of vibration," Mr. Chrysler continues. "One of the most unusual features is the method by which the engine is isolated from the frame to prevent the disturbances of road irregularities from being transmitted to it thru the chassis."

The engine front end is mounted on a floating platform spring. Its usual rigid bolting to the chassis frame at the front end is entirely lacking. Fastenings of the rear engine arms to the chassis have rubber bushings and pads interposed, eliminating the destructive contact of metal with metal. Thus the engine is literally cushioned on rubber at the point. The combination of these two unusual practices means complete insulation against vibration in the chassis frame.

This ingenious arrangement, Mr. Chrysler says, gives no opportunity for rumble or tremor to reach the body of the car or its occupants. It promotes an unmistakable smoothness to engine and chassis operation particularly, he says.

Chassis is of unusually sturdy construction. Added to the customary design of strong, stiff cross members is a stout torque tube at the front, and a wide, strong integral brace of heavy gauge metal at the rear. Frame weaving and distortion, the two actions which loosen body bolts and set up squeaks—are thus largely overcome. The radiator is also bolted rigidly to the chassis frame side members.

Unusually Easy to Drive

Steering mechanism is especially designed for balloon tires. The kingpins are provided with ball thrust bearings rather than the customary plain type. Steering mechanism is designed to straighten itself out after making a turn.

Another indication of Chrysler progressiveness is the fact that the new Four is the lowest priced car ever offered with the option of Chrysler Lockheed Four Wheel Brakes, which have gained so much popularity on the six-cylinder models.

The body design combining compactness for easy handling on the road, easy parking and economy, with generous roominess, so distinctive of the Six, is also to be found in the Four. In this new model the motorist is given greater roominess than in many cars that have a longer wheelbase.

All closed bodies are by Fisher, with one piece vision ventilating windshield rapid acting window lifters and high quality upholstery and hardware.

"The Chrysler organization is equally as proud of this new Four as of the Chrysler Six," concludes Mr. Chrysler. "It is in every way modernly engineered and designed—and the soundest and thoroughly modern expression of the four cylinder principle."

"Its abilities include a gasoline economy of 25 miles per gallon, acceleration from practically a standstill to 25 miles an hour in eight seconds, and a speed range remarkably adapted for unusual power in hilly country."

onds, and a speed range remarkably adapted for unusual power in hilly country."

Melodrama as you like it—this, in brief, sums up the latest Paramount production "Contraband," Alan Crossland's vivid picturization of the novel by Clarence Budington Kelland, now at the Met theater.

Those who read the book know that the story revolves around the efforts of a young girl editor in a small town to rid the community of the vicious political elements who are in control of the local government.

In the course of her investigations the girl discovers that even those forces that are presumably on the side of the low and order are in reality in league with her enemies. But with the knowledge that she is fighting for the right and with the help of a young professor, who has been a victim of the political ring, she is successful in cleaning up the town.

The picture is chock-full of thrilling action and sheds considerable light on present-day activities of rum-runners and bootleggers. The inside workings of a small-town newspaper are accurately portrayed, and the atmosphere and background of the average Main Street is true to life.

The film has its lighter moments and there is humor of a particularly appealing kind. The romance of the girl editor and the pompous professor furnishes many a laugh, and the rivalry between the photographer and the haberdasher for the honor of being acclaimed the handsomest and best dressed man in town adds to the merriment.

An exceptionally fine cast has been assembled, every member of which is perfect in his or her characterization. The feature roles are in the capable hands of such well known screen celebrities as Lois Wilson, Noah Berry, Raymond Hatton and Raymond McKee.

The New CHRYSLER FOUR

Walter P. Chrysler's Latest Achievement

Now Ready!

Walter P. Chrysler's full conception of what a four-cylinder car should be has now become a reality.

Mr. Chrysler announces the new Chrysler Four, companion car to the Chrysler Six. It is here, ready for your inspection.

Whether you are a car owner or not, by all means see this new Chrysler creation. Ride in it. Come to know the latest Chrysler achievement which the master builder identifies with his name.

It will amaze you, for it is our firm conviction that the new Chrysler Four represents a better and finer combination of power, speed, fuel mileage and charm of appearance than any other four in the world today.

The wonderful riding qualities of the new Chrysler Four cannot be described. You must experience them to know what an advance has been made in the four-cylinder field. It is enough to say that a ride will amaze and delight you.

And when you ride you'll notice the absolute quietness of the four-cylinder engine, you'll find no rumble or tremors in the body of the car.

Here is a car you can truly drive all day without fatigue. It is hardly ever necessary to shift gears, except for starting from a dead stop. When shifting is necessary it is made clean and noiselessly by the matched transmission gears and easy clutch action.

There has never been the like of the new Chrysler Four at anywhere near its price. Be prepared for a great revelation.

RECALL CLASH OF DANE AND BRITON

Old Coins Have Stirred Historical Memories.

There has been a great to-do among archeologists and historians since the discovery of some coins last autumn in the Peakland caves in England. These coins were of no known denomination. They bore the name "Burgred," but who he was it has taken a great many learned polemics to decide.

There is no doubt that this is the same unhappy Burgred, or, more properly, Burhred, who in 854 A. D. gave the Wolverly portion of Kidderminster to "Aethun, bishop of Worcester," and also endowed that historic see with Hartlebury castle, which it holds to this day.

Poor Burgred! He had indeed a wretched time of it. In the year 852 he was chosen by the Witan to succeed Beorhtwulf on the throne of Mercia, one of the weakest of the Anglo-Saxon kingdoms. Scarcely was he crowned when the Welsh under Roderic Mawr revolted from Mercian overlordship. Burhred called upon his own liege, Aethelwulf, king of the West Saxons, and between them they subdued Lloyd George's ancestors after a bloody war. To celebrate the victory and cement further relations Burhred married Aethelswyth, the daughter of Aethelwulf, and peace seemed once more insured to Britain.

But in 865 came the Danes in never-ending flood, and soon they had entrenched themselves in Nottingham, a menace to all the island. Burhred sought the help of his brother-in-law, Aethelred, then reigning over the West Saxons, who together with his younger brother, afterward the great Alfred, sped to Mercian aid. The Saxon army advanced against the might of Denmark, then serene behind the stone walls of Nottingham. Neither feint nor siege could dislodge the enemy, so presently the British made peace and reluctantly turned home. In after years King Alfred must have bitterly regretted that he did not prevail upon his elders to sit before Nottingham until its defenders were starved out, for he had many a hard-fought battle before him as a result of Danish occupation.

At all events, one may be sure poor Burhred rued the decision, for six years later the wily horsemen, seizing a favorable moment, overran the helpless Mercians and forced their king to fly for his life.

Reaching the continent, he made his way to Rome and there, already forgotten at home, he died and was buried in the St. Mary's chamber of the English school.

Thus the ashes of King Alfred's brother-in-law rest by the Tiber instead of the Mersey. Long time has he slept since these coins of his realm were found by a modern Briton in the cave where once they had been hidden from the oncoming Dane.—Washington Post.

Old-Time Religion Will Do

The bishop of London, preaching at Christ church, Marylebone, in connection with its centenary celebrations, said that, looking at the strife of nations and what happened in the translation of President Wilson's self-determination principle in Ireland and India, and the strife between white and colored races, they were forced to the conclusion that the teaching of Christ and the introduction of "team spirit" were the only solution of the problem of crowding upon the earth, says the London Daily Telegram in a recent issue.

The same applied to the industrial world. Not a new religion, but a new heart and new attitude toward the old religion were required, and he had no hesitation in declaring that the old religion was adequate to the new age. The old church still treasured the Christian truth unsullied and unspoiled and retained the confidence of the Anglo-Saxon people. The Church of England was never on such friendly terms with the other churches of Christendom as it was today, and they were also in closer accord and understanding with the great nonconformist bodies.

Food From Airplanes

In future warfare it will be impossible for an army to lay effective siege to a city or a column of troops. Directly food and drink run short in the beleaguered garrison, formations of airplanes will sweep overhead, and a rain of provisions attached to parachutes will fall.

A new provision-dropping parachute and container has recently been ordered by the British air ministry. The containers are cylindrical, and are made of metal with a dome or "percussion cap" at one end. Parachutes are designed to fall at two alternative rates of descent: one 22 feet per second and one 14 feet per second, and the percussion caps absorb the shock of landing.

The combined ammunition and provision container is 36 inches long and 10½ inches in diameter. It is attached to an ordinary airplane bomb rack, and the pilot drops it by operating the usual bomb-release lever.

Volcano as Lighthouse

A volcano on the island of San Salvador serves the purpose of a lighthouse and requires no attention. The volcanic lighthouse is about eight miles from the port of Acajutla. It is a veritable pillar of cloud by day, and the flash of its light by night has served as a guide to mariners for several centuries.

What Do You Know About

Sole Leather?

HERE ARE A FEW LEATHER FACTS:

The best leather is tanned Steer Hide.

Steers are raised for their meat—not for their hides.

There is as great a difference in the quality of leather as in the quality of meat.

Good leather always comes from over good meat, and vice versa.

Heavy hides are taken from cattle four years or older.

Most thick leather nowadays is artificially swelled by acid—often sulphuric acid, which rots the fiber, rots the stitching and destroys the wear. The breeding up of cattle by dairymen and the younger kill to supply tender meat, produce the best hide and the best leather, of medium thickness.

Country hides are badly cut in the skinning and are of little value for soles leather.

Most newspaper quotations are on country hides

Packer Hides are rarely flesh-cut in skinning and, therefore, bring several times the price of country hides.

Hides are always heavily salted to preserve, and are sold salt and all.

The average weight of a green-salted, steer hide is 60 lbs

To properly tan, it must remain in the tanning liquors from six to nine months.

A 60 lb. green salted hide will lose 20 lbs. or 1/3 its green weight in a good, natural, non-acid tannage.

A tanned hide will give four distinct qualities of leather.

World's Largest Tree

Forest fires threatening the redwoods and sequoias in northern California are a menace that may destroy the oldest and largest growths in the world. It is claimed by scientists that the General Sherman tree, in Sequoia park, is the largest living thing, towering 279.9 feet above the earth, and boasting a diameter of 36.5 feet. Two other trees are taller, but none so broad. In the 3,200 acres comprising Sequoia National park, there are 5,000 trees that have diameter in excess of ten feet.

MAIL ORDER HOUSE GIVES ITS COMMANDS

Study Them Carefully, Because They Contain Some Wholesome Truths.

The following are the Ten Commandments of the Mail Order House:

1—You shall sell your farm produce for cash, where you can, for we buy nothing from you.

2—You shall believe in us, and best because we do not know you personally.

3—You shall send your money to us in advance, so we can buy the goods from the factory with your money; you may have to wait a few weeks but that is our business method.

4—You shall get help from your nearest city or village to build good roads, so you may easily haul our goods from the depot, but do not ask help from us—we don't help to build good roads.

5—You may buy church bells and altar utensils from us, and send the money in advance—that's our rule.

6—You shall get all the help you can from the business men in your neighborhood; although we may have more profit from you than they have, it is against our rules to give to your church.

7—You shall convert your neighbors also to your faith in us, for we have room for more money.

8—You shall look at the pretty pictures in our catalog as often as you can, so as to strengthen your desire for things you do not need, but which you do not need, but which you may order with other goods to save freight. Sent us all your ready cash so that you may not have any left to buy necessities from your home dealers.

9—You shall believe us rather than your home business men, for we want your trade. We get to be millionaires on your support. Don't be bluffed.

10—You shall call on the business people of your own vicinity for help and credit if you meet with hard luck or sickness. It's your money we want; we don't know you unless your orders are accompanied by cash.

DEATH OF TWO LEADERS IN WEEK

Places the So-called Progressive Movement in United States in Jeopardy.

(By Paul R. Mallon, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Madison, Wis., June 24.—The life of the so-called progressive movement throughout the United States is in jeopardy as result of the passing of its two leaders, Senators Ladd and La Follette, within a single week.

A curious situation has arisen here in Wisconsin which probably will result in Mrs. Belle Case La Follette, widow of the leader, going to the Senate for his unexpired term—but such a course will only delay the fight for control of the state which is bound to come.

Out in North Dakota the chances of the progressives holding their own by selecting a successor for Senator Ladd are seriously in doubt.

Republicans have been working strenuously in these two states since the beginning of the presidential campaign for the express purpose of overthrowing the progressives at the polls in 1926. The almost simultaneous deaths of Ladd and La Follette will force elections within a few months, at a time when the Republicans are stronger than they have been in recent years.

The seriousness of the situation was seen in the statement issued by Senator Norris, generalissimo of the La Follette group in Congress, who urged that "the death of our great leader must not be taken as any disintegration of our ranks."

"The echo of the clarion voice of La Follette which led during his life must now be the rallying cry at his grave," Norris said. "Humanity's cause, for which he lived and for which he gave his life, demands our united service and our loyal fidelity."

Leaders within the La Follette ranks are frankly worried. New candidates for his senatorial post are bobbing up every minute. The situation is described by impartial observers as such that the La Follette son, Robert Jr.—obviously the logical choice because of knowledge of his father's affairs and his own ability—would face stiff opposition from those within his own ranks who do not believe he has yet proved himself to the voters. The widow, Mrs. Belle Case La Follette, loved throughout the state as much as her husband, is the only one who can unite the various groups. She does not desire to be a candidate but appeals are being made from every side for her to step forward to save the movement which her husband instituted.

Steps Taken to Effect Better School Lighting

New York.—The National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness, seeking the protection of school children from eye-strain, is undertaking to acquaint every schoolteacher in the United States with the principles of correct lighting. To this end it will send to the superintendent of schools in every state, county and city having a school population of 25,000 or more a communication based on the code of lighting school buildings prepared by experts, and approved as the American standard.

The committee says its studies indicate that 12 per cent of American school children have defective vision.

Frog Almost Prevents Publication of Paper

West Chester, Pa.—A frog only five inches long almost prevented the publication of a daily paper here when it wandered into the water main supplying the building and impeded the flow, finally cutting it off entirely, depriving the entire building of water for several hours.

Finally the meter was removed and the frog was found wedged in so tightly that not a drop of water came through. When it was removed the flow started as usual.

GRECIAN REVOLUTION IS SUCCESSFUL

MILITARY RULE IN FORCE NEW GOVERNMENT WELCOMED

Bloodless d'Etat Led By Former Generalissimo of Army—Meets Little Resistance—Republicans Anxious to Set Up More Democratic Government.

Greek government, under the premiership of Micalakopoulos has been deposed and a new government under military control is installed at Athens. The revolutionary movement started at dawn simultaneously in Athens and Saloniki, when anti-government forces, after a brief and harmless fusillade, seized the telegram offices and cut communication. The military movement had been foreseen for several days, but up to the last minute the government had declared itself master of the situation and was absolutely convinced of the loyalty of the troops.

General Pangalos issued an ultimatum to the government, demanding its resignation and holding the ministry responsible for any bloodshed.

At the same time an ultimatum was issued by Admiral Hadjikirakos, former minister of marine, who was aboard the warship, Averof, and by the commander of the troops at Saloniki.

The whole of the Athens Garrison did not at first declare in favor of the revolution, and Premier Michalakopoulos and his cabinet remained in session in the parliament building guarded by loyal troops.

In the afternoon General Pangalos and his staff took up quarters at the war ministry, where he assumed the attitude of leader of the revolution the meantime the government resigned, and the provisional president of the republic, Admiral Coundouriotis, sent out an urgent summons to the parliamentary leaders.

Tho there were possibilities of a really serious situation had a collision between the troops of the two parties occurred, the revolution from a military standpoint was a mild affair, and, except for a few blank cartridges fired, nothing that seemed like war happened. Revolutionary troops are protecting public buildings, and General Pangalos received an offer from Saloniki that troops would be sent to the capital if he so desired. This was not necessary.

The populace seems strangely unmoved by the event, and is evidently becoming accustomed to such coups, which have been increasingly frequent in recent years.

Pangalos issued a manifesto declaring that in acting as he did he was merely carrying out the wishes of the people, who demanded the redemption and purification of the country.

The care with which the revolution was engineered is evidenced by the elaborate preparations made in the principal garrisons throughout the country, where agents of the revolution seem to have found fertile soil to work upon. The adherence of the entire fleet has put the seal of success upon Greece's latest coup d'etat.

The discontent of the officers to which the movement was chiefly due was caused by the feeling that the Michalakopoulos cabinet had not paid sufficient attention to the reorganization of the military forces and had neglected to develop the national riches of the country, while its foreign policy had achieved only failure notably with regard to Serbia and Turkey. The officers further complained that too great concessions had been afforded foreign capital, making Greece financially tributary to foreigners.

All the leaders of the military movement are strong republicans and are anxious to set up a more democratic government.

Cora Rader Hood, Mrs. Floyd Lugenbeel and Mrs. James Swearingen were the executive committee members present.

Miss Adele Koch of the Home Economics Extension Department, Ohio State University, was in charge of the meeting. Miss Koch outlined the farm woman's part in Farm Bureau program. The meeting was then opened for discussion. Every woman present gave her views.

Miss Koch then called on several for suggestions for a county wide woman's program. Several of the ladies thought that a Better Health Program would be well adapted to this county.

A questionnaire was prepared which will be filled out at township Farm Bureau meetings. The data gathered from these questionnaires will be summarized and printed before Pumpkin Show time.

Mrs. Cora Rader Hood was elected chairman of the committee and will appoint a committee to prepare the Pumpkin Show booth in which will be shown and demonstrated several home made sick room appliances.

Mrs. E. C. Rector was elected to membership of the county executive committee to represent the Women's Committee.

THE CROW LAW

This law goes into effect on July 20. It provides a bounty of twenty-five cents for each crow killed in the state by an inhabitant thereof. The "head" is taken to the township clerk, who destroys it and issues to the applicant a certificate to the county auditor for the fee.

County commissioners are required to appropriate not to exceed $100 for each township for the purpose of paying for crows killed, but no limit is placed as to how this money is to be expended as to townships. No payments are made after the funds are exhausted.

Button, Button, Button, Who has the button? We have the molds and the machine to make the buttons, all we lack is the material. Bring in the material and we will make all the buttons you want, any style.

Long Submarine Cable

A submarine cable in one continuous length of 2,700 feet has been recently laid across the Hudson river at Garrison, just below West Point, according to the Electrical World. The makeup of the cable and the method of laying it presented some features not encountered in every-day practice. The cable is to carry current from the east side of the river to the west side for local distribution in the immediate vicinity of Garrison. Power is to be transmitted at first at 2,300 volts with ungrounded star-connected transformers, and this will later be changed to 4,000 volts with the neutral grounded.

Old Landmark Injured

Scrabo tower, an ancient landmark at Newtownards, County Down, Ireland, was recently struck by lightning during a severe storm. The bolt dug an extensive hole beside the tower walls. So violent was the crash that windows were smashed to fragments. Scrabo tower was erected in the year 1857 in memory of Charles William Vane, third marquis of Londonderry, by his tenantry and friends. The monument stands on an eminence of 540 feet and is itself 135 feet high—about the same height as the Albert memorial in Belfast. The prominent position which it occupies enables it to be seen from the heights around Belfast, and it can be viewed from the hills of Antrim and from the shores and islands of Strangford to far away Portaferry.

A System of Farming That Brings Health and Prosperity

Every farm, regardless of the method of farming practiced or of the crops raised, should have at least a few good milch cows to provide

- (1) Enough milk, cream and butter for home use;
- (2) Enough skim-milk to raise some calves, pigs and chickens;
- (3) Enough cream or butter to sell to pay, in part or entirely, current living expenses.

This plan has been a "life-saver" for thousands of farmers, especially during the hard times of the past two years. It insures a living, at least, and often other income besides.

Such a plan pays best with a De Laval Cream Separator. It soon pays for itself—and skims cleaner, lasts longer and is easier to operate and clean than any other.

The time is passed when the measure of the value of a memorial is quantity. I hope the time has come when that measure is quality. I care not whether the material be marble or granite, its future will be measured by the character of the design. It is quality that has preserved for us the finest examples in painting and sculpture. It is quality that will stamp our imprint upon cemeteries of the future. Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. A design that is right, material that is lasting, and perfect workmanship, spells success for the future of this industry and the beautification of the cemetery. Will you let me help you select the memorial for your lot. Call at show room. NO AGENTS.

BOULAY TO RE-

Finds Job 'Expensive'—Has Had Enough He Thinks.

"When I leave the office of state highway director, I am quitting politics for life. I have had enough and my experience as a member of the governor's official family has been entirely satisfactory but really rather expensive, and I have had to dig into the chest to make ends meet."

Such was the statement of L. A. Boulay, Tuesday, when the rumors that he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor next year against Gov. Vic Donahey were repeated to him.

"I am not unmindful of the very many pleasant things said about me, and have heard personally and by mail from a number who have suggested that I enter the field as a candidate for governor next year. It is to laugh. When I finish my work here in August I am through with politics forever. No more political offices for me. I have had a delightful experience, proud of things accomplished during my administration, but when I leave the office in August I leave behind me all political aspirations and desires."

DEAR OLD DAD.

They were grouped about the front door waiting for the pallbearers to carry out the casket. There were young men, middle-aged men and old men in that group. There were thin men and fat men, short men and tall men; but in one thing they were all alike. Each wore a white apron under his coat, a sprig of green in his buttonhole and each had his hands encased in white gloves. You have already guessed that it was a lodge funeral. One of the members had laid down the working tools of life and the others had assembled to carry the body to the brow of a hill, where someone had been and dug a grave. Every time we attend the funeral of a man who has been a husband and a father, we think of what that home has lost. We associate the success of a well-managed home so much with mother that we are prone to lose sight of dad. But when we stand around the yard waiting for them to bring dad thru the door-way we begin to think of him as the man who furnished the shingles over that home—as the man who held the butcher and grocer off with his weekly pay envelope—the man who mowed the grass and hauled out the ashes each spring. Dad is the man who buys the chicken, who carves the chicken, and for all expense and trouble he draws the neck and wing. Dad is the chap who wears his last summer's straw hat that mother and the girls may have new bonnets. True it is mother who darns the socks, but who pays for the darn socks? It was dad who went to lodge and came home smelling like a smokehouse and rolled and tossed because he had eaten four ham sandwiches and drank two cups of coffee after eleven o'clock. Poor old dad—he was an awful fool about the work at the lodge, but with all his faults there was something about him and his brother Masons that makes us sigh as they drop their sprigs of acacia into the new made grave. Dad was as steady as a steam roller, as constant as the drip from a loose faucet. When he sat silently rubbing his chin and gazing into the fire he was probably thinking of the price of coal. Sometimes mother had to chide him for wearing a shirt too long, or neglecting to hang his hat in its proper place. Sometimes daughter wished he wouldn't come into the living room without collar. Sometimes the boys thought he was hard on them and tight with them. But now that he is gone, they will miss him sorely and understand why he went without a new overcoat to pay that last premium on his life insurance. And when you came back from the place where you laid him, and all the brothers of the lodge have gone back to their own homes, and the undertaker has gathered up the folding chairs and removed the crepe from the door, you are going to miss that sober presence that stood between you and so many outside annoyances. Never go back on dad.—Exchange.

TRAINING CAMPS
PROVE POPULAR

Already 25 Per Cent of Quota
for 1925 Is Filled.

New York.—With the 1925 citizens' military training camps still two months away, more than 25 per cent of the estimated quota attendance of 50,000 young men between the ages of 17 and 31 already has been enrolled, according to announcement by the War department. This is double the enrollment at this time last year, and this summer's quota will be 16,000 more than that of 1924.

Forty-two camps stretching across the continent from Fort McKinley, Maine, to the Presidio of San Francisco, will be opened this summer for the basic course, and the three advanced courses in which citizenship and physical training will be intermingled in the schedules with drill and instruction in the infantry, cavalry, field and coast artillery, engineers and signal corps branches of the military. Part of the camps run during the month of July and others during August, while Plattsburg, N. Y., will have two camps in succession.

The C. M. T. C. candidate is under no obligations except to spend thirty days of his time at one of the camps located near his home; the government meets the expense of carfare to and from the camp, clothing, equipment, meals, bedding, lodging and entertainment. The President's son or the millionaire's heir who sleeps by the side of the farmer's boy, marches beside him in the ranks and eats next him at the mess hall in this annual democratic leveler, pays the same amount for his thirty days' vacation and training, exactly nothing.

The Sixth army corps area so far leads among the nine areas in which the nation is divided by the war department for purposes of military administration. Fifty per cent of this section's quota of 5,000 already has been filled.

It includes the states of Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. Next is the Fifth corps area, including Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia, with 38.4 per cent of a quota of 6,000. Third is the Fourth corps area, including the southeastern states, with 36.6 per cent of a quota of 5,700.

NEW MACHINE
ANNOUNCED
BY CHRYSLER

Companion Car the Famous
Six-Rapid Motor Car
Development.

Chrysler today announces a new four-cylinder line, in response to a public demand for another car bearing this name which has become recognized as one of the most distinguished in the motor car industry.

The new Chrysler Four, offered in touring car, club coupe, coach and four-door body sedan styles, priced from $895 to $1095, f. o. b., Detroit, is built for the benefit of the thousands who desire in a four-cylinder car the same comparative superiorities embodied in the Chrysler Six.

This new car is the product of the executives who, in the Chrysler Six revolutionized motor car design and construction. Motor car authorities who have seen the new model considered it to be equally as notable an achievement in its field as its famed companion. It is built to the same close manufacturing limits and of the same high quality of materials.

"The new Chrysler Four is the outgrowth of research, design and test which first resulted in the conception of the Chrysler Six," is the comment of Walter P. Chrysler, head of this organization who has become one of the dominant personalities in the automotive field, on his newest achievement. "Adaptation of the results achieved in the Six to our four-cylinder model has been going on since the appearance of the Six."

Sets Record For Power Development According to the S. A. E. formula, the horsepower of the new Four is 21.03. It actually delivers 38.5. Uniform fuel distribution to all cylinders complete combustion, perfect valve action, highly efficient operating temperature, ample capacity of cooling system and generous water jacketing of cylinder walls and valve ports are factors that make this noticeable general efficiency possible.

"You can drive this car all day under heavy load at top speed and the engine will not overheat or lose power," Mr. Chrysler continues.

Engine lubrication is by positive, full-forced feed, sending a continuous flow of oil under pressure to all main bearings and, thru drilled passages in the crankshaft, to all connecting rod bearings. A cushion of oil at these points is called well worth the extra cost by engineers, rather than having the metal-to-metal contact and rapid wear common to splash oiling.

Remarkably free from Vibration. The entire car is called remarkably free from vibration. Elimination of it is due to balancing all rotating and reciprocating parts; short, heavy and rigid crankshaft in conjunction with light pistons and connecting rods; dynamic balance of all parts that revolve such as crankshaft, clutch hub and flywheel; and matching of connecting rod and piston assemblies to the fraction of an ounce.

"But the engineers have not stopped there in disposing of vibration," Mr. Chrysler continues. "One of the most unusual features is the method by which the engine is isolated from the frame to prevent the disturbances of road irregularities from being transmitted to it thru the chassis. The engine front end is mounted on a floating platform spring. Its usual rigid bolting to the chassis frame at the front end is entirely lacking. Fastenings of the rear engine arms to the chassis have rubber bushings and pads interposed, eliminating the destructive contact of metal with metal. Thus the engine is literally cushioned on rubber at the point. The combination of these two unusual practices means complete insulation against vibration in the chassis frame."

This ingenious arrangement, Mr. Chrysler says, gives no opportunity for rumble or tremor to reach the body of the car or its occupants. It promotes an unmistakable smoothness to engine and chassis operation particularly, he says.

Chassis is of unusually sturdy construction. Added to the customary design of strong, stiff cross members is a stout torque tube at the front, and a wide, strong integral brace of heavy gauge metal at the rear. Frame weaving and distortion, the two actions which loosen body bolts and set up squeaks—are thus largely overcome. The radiator is also bolted rigidly to the chassis frame side members.

Unusually Easy to Drive. Steering mechanism is especially designed for balloon tires. The kingpins are provided with ball thrust bearings rather than the customary plain type. Steering mechanism is designed to straighten itself out after making a turn.

Another indication of Chrysler progressiveness is the fact that the new Four is the lowest priced car ever offered with the option of Chrysler Lockheed Four Wheel Brakes, which have gained so much popularity on the six-cylinder models.

The body design combining compactness for easy handling on the road, easy parking and economy, with generous roominess, so distinctive of the Six, is also to be found in the Four. In this new model the motorist is given greater roominess than in many cars that have a longer wheel-base.

All closed bodies are by Fisher, with one piece vision ventilating windshield rapid acting window lifters and high quality upholstery and hardware.

"The Chrysler organization is equally as proud of this new Four as of the Chrysler Six," concludes Mr. Chrysler. "It is in every way modernly engineered and designed—and the soundest and thoroughly modern expression of the four cylinder principle."

"Its abilities include a gasoline economy of 25 miles per gallon, acceleration from practically a standstill to 25 miles an hour in eight seconds, and a speed range remarkably adapted for unusual power in hilly country."

SENSENBRENNER'S
"Thoughtful Gifts"

AMUSEMENTS

Melodrama as you like it—this, in brief, sums up the latest Paramount production "Contraband," Alan Crosland's vivid picturization of the novel by Clarence Budington Kelland, now at the Met theater.

Those who read the book know that the story revolves around the efforts of a young girl editor in a small town to rid the community of the vicious political elements who are in control of the local government.

In the course of her investigations the girl discovers that even those forces that are presumably on the side of the low and order are in reality in league with her enemies. But with the knowledge that she is fighting for the right and with the help of a young professor, who has been a victim of the political ring, she is successful in cleaning up the town.

The picture is chock-full of thrilling action and sheds considerable light on present-day activities of rum-runners and bootleggers. The inside workings of a small-town newspaper are accurately portrayed, and the atmosphere and background of the average Main Street is true to life.

The film has its lighter moments and there is humor of a particularly appealing kind. The romance of the girl editor and the pompous professor furnishes many a laugh, and the rivalry between the photographer and the haberdasher for the honor of being acclaimed the handsomest and best dressed man in town adds to the merriment.

An exceptionally fine cast has been assembled, every member of which is perfect in his or her characterization. The feature roles are in the capable hands of such well known screen celebrities as Lois Wilson, Noah Berry, Raymond Hatton and Raymond McKee.

RECALL CLASH OF DANE AND BRITON

Old Coins Have Stirred Historical Memories.

There has been a great to-do among archeologists and historians since the discovery of some coins last autumn in the Peakland caves in England. These coins were of no known denomination. They bore the name "Burgred," but who he was it has taken a great many learned polemics to decide.

There is no doubt that this is the same unhappy Burgred, or, more properly, Burhred, who in 854 A. D. gave the Wolferly portion of Kidderminster to "Aethun, bishop of Worcester," and also endowed that historic see with Hartlebury castle, which it holds to this day.

Poor Burgred! He had indeed a wretched time of it. In the year 852 he was chosen by the Witan to succeed Beorhtwulf on the throne of Mercia, one of the weakest of the Anglo-Saxon kingdoms. Scarcely was he crowned when the Welsh under Roderic Mawr revolted from Mercian overlordship. Burhred called upon his own liege, Aethelwulf, king of the West Saxons, and between them they subdued Lloyd George's ancestors after a bloody war. To celebrate the victory and cement further relations Burhred married Aethelswyth, the daughter of Aethelwulf, and peace seemed once more insured to Britain.

But in 865 came the Danes in never-ending flood, and soon they had entrenched themselves in Nottingham, a menace to all the island. Burhred sought the help of his brother-in-law, Aethelred, then reigning over the West Saxons, who together with his younger brother, afterward the great Alfred, sped to Mercian aid. The Saxon army advanced against the might of Denmark, then serene behind the stone walls of Nottingham. Neither feint nor siege could dislodge the enemy, so presently the British made peace and reluctantly turned home. In after years King Alfred must have bitterly regretted that he did not prevail upon his elders to sit before Nottingham until its defenders were starved out, for he had many a hard-fought battle before him as a result of Danish occupation.

At all events, one may be sure poor Burgred rued the decision, for six years later the wily horsemen, seizing a favorable moment, overran the helpless Mercians and forced their king to fly for his life.

Reaching the continent, he made his way to Rome and there, already forgotten at home, he died and was buried in the St. Mary's chamber of the English school.

Thus the ashes of King Alfred's brother-in-law rest by the Tiber instead of the Mersey. Long time has he slept since these coins of his realm were found by a modern Briton in the cave where once they had been hidden from the oncoming Dane.—Washington Post.

Old-Time Religion Will Do

The bishop of London, preaching at Christ church, Marylebone, in connection with its centenary celebrations, said that, looking at the strife of nations and what happened in the translation of President Wilson's self-determination principle in Ireland and India, and the strife between white and colored races, they were forced to the conclusion that the teaching of Christ and the introduction of "team spirit" were the only solution of the problem of crowding upon the earth. says the London Daily Telegram in a recent issue.

The same applied to the industrial world. Not a new religion, but a new heart and new attitude toward the old religion were required, and he had no hesitation in declaring that the old religion was adequate to the new age. The old church still treasured the Christian truth unsullied and unspotted and retained the confidence of the Anglo-Saxon people. The Church of England was never on such friendly terms with the other churches of Christendom as it was today, and they were also in closer accord and understanding with the great nonconformist bodies.

Food From Airplanes

In future warfare it will be impossible for an army to lay effective siege to a city or a column of troops. Directly food and drink run short in the beleaguered garrison, formations of airplanes will sweep overhead, and a rain of provisions attached to parachutes will fall.

A new provision-dropping parachute and container has recently been ordered by the British air ministry. The containers are cylindrical, and are made of metal with a dome or "percussion cap" at one end. Parachutes are designed to fall at two alternative rates of descent: one 22 feet per second and one 14 feet per second, and the percussion caps absorb the shock of landing.

The combined ammunition and provision container is 36 inches long and 10½ inches in diameter. It is attached to an ordinary airplane bomb rack, and the pilot drops it by operating the usual bomb-release lever.

What Do You Know About Sole Leather?

HERE ARE A FEW LEATHER FACTS:

The best leather is tanned Steer Hide. Steers are raised for their meat—not for their hides. There is as great a difference in the quality of leather as in the quality of meat.
Good leather always comes from over good meat, and vice versa. Heavy hides are taken from cattle four years or older.
Most thick leather nowadays is artificially swelled by acid—often sulphuric acid, which rots the fiber, rots the stitching and destroys the wear. The breeding up of cattle by dairymen and the younger kill to supply tender meat, produce the best hide and the best leather, of medium thickness.
Country hides are badly cut in the skinning and are of little value for soles leather.
Most newspaper quotations are on country hides.
Packer Hides are rarely flesh-cut in skinning and, therefore, bring several times the price of country hides.
Hides are always heavily salted to preserve, and are sold salt and all.
The average weight of a green-salted, steer hide is 60 lbs. To properly tan, it must remain in the tanning liquors from six to nine months.
A 60 lb. green-salted hide will lose 20 lbs. or 1/3 its green weight in a good, natural, non-acid tannage.
A tanned hide will give four distinct qualities of leather.

World's Largest Tree

Forest fires threatening the redwoods and sequoias in northern California are a menace that may destroy the oldest and largest growths in the world. It is claimed by scientists that the General Sherman tree, in Sequoia park, is the largest living thing, towering 279.9 feet above the earth, and boasting a diameter of 30.5 feet. Two other trees are taller, but none so broad. In the 3,200 acres comprising Sequoia National park, there are 5,000 trees that have diameter in excess of ten feet.

- 2—You shall believe in us, and best because we do not know you personally.
- 3—You shall send your money to us in advance, so we can buy the goods from the factory with your money; you may have to wait a few weeks but that is our business method.
- 4—You shall get help from your nearest city or village to build good roads, so you may easily haul our goods from the depot, but do not ask help from us—we don't help to build good roads.
- 5—You may buy church bells and altar utensils from us, and send the money in advance—that's our rule.
- 6—You shall get all the help you can from the business men in your neighborhood; although we may have more profit from you than they have, it is against our rules to give to your church.
- 7—You shall convert your neighbors also to your faith in us, for we have room for more money.
- 8—You shall look at the pretty pictures in our catalog as often as you can, so as to strengthen your desire for things you do not need, but which you do not need, but which you may order with other goods to save freight. Send us all your ready cash so that you may not have any left to buy necessities from your home dealers.
- 9—You shall believe us rather than your home business men, for we want your trade. We get to be millionaires on your support. Don't be bluffed.
- 10—You shall call on the business people of your own vicinity for help and credit if you meet with hard luck or sickness. It's your money we want; we don't know you unless your orders are accompanied by cash.

DEATH OF TWO LEADERS IN WEEK

Places the So-called Progressive Movement In United States In Jeopardy.

(By Paul R. Mallon, United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Madison, Wis., June 24.—The life of the so-called progressive movement throughout the United States is in jeopardy as result of the passing of its two leaders, Senators Ladd and La Follette, within a single week.

A curious situation has arisen here in Wisconsin which probably will result in Mrs. Belle Case La Follette, widow of the leader, going to the Senate for his unexpired term—but such a course will only delay the fight for control of the state which is bound to come.

Out in North Dakota the chances of the progressives holding their own by selecting a successor for Senator Ladd are seriously in doubt.

Republicans have been working strenuously in these two states since the beginning of the presidential campaign for the express purpose of overthrowing the progressives at the polls in 1926. The almost simultaneous deaths of Ladd and La Follette will force elections within a few months, at a time when the Republicans are stronger than they have been in recent years.

The seriousness of the situation was seen in the statement issued by Senator Norris, generalissimo of the La Follette group in Congress, who urged that "the death of our great leader must not be taken as any disintegration of our ranks."

"The echo of the clarion voice of La Follette which led during his life must now be the rallying cry at his grave," Norris said. "Humanity's cause, for which he lived and for which he gave his life, demands our united service and our loyal fidelity."

Leaders within the La Follette ranks are frankly worried. New candidates for his senatorial post are bobbing up every minute. The situation is described by impartial observers as such that the La Follette son, Robert Jr.—obviously the logical choice because of knowledge of his father's affairs and his own ability—would face stiff opposition from those within his own ranks who do not believe he has yet proved himself to the voters. The widow, Mrs. Belle Case La Follette, loved throughout the state as much as her husband, is the only one who can unite the various groups. She does not desire to be a candidate but appeals are being made from every side for her to step forward to save the movement which her husband instituted.

Steps Taken to Effect Better School Lighting

New York.—The National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness, seeking the protection of school children from eye-strain, is undertaking to acquaint every schoolteacher in the United States with the principles of correct lighting. To this end it will send to the superintendent of schools in every state, county and city having a school population of 25,000 or more a communication based on the code of lighting school buildings prepared by experts, and approved as the American standard.

The committee says its studies indicate that 12 per cent of American school children have defective vision.

Frog Almost Prevents Publication of Paper

West Chester, Pa.—A frog only five inches long almost prevented the publication of a daily paper here when it wandered into the water main supplying the building and impeded the flow, finally cutting it off entirely, depriving the entire building of water for several hours.

Finally the meter was removed and the frog was found wedged in so tightly that not a drop of water came through. When it was removed the flow started as usual.
